What is the Customer Reference Program?

Your business story matters.

When your company drives innovation and achieves powerful outcomes using GE Digital solutions, we want to highlight your success. That's why we invite you to join our Customer Reference Program—a program that enables GE Digital to work closely with our valued customers to promote our Industrial Internet solutions, build brand awareness, and help you:

Showcase your innovation and success – both publicly and within your organization

Demonstrate thought leadership within your Industry

Engage in a closer relationship with GE Digital subject matter experts and leadership through:

- Networking and customer appreciation events
- Quarterly roadmap reviews
- Annual executive briefing sessions
- Leadership events at Crotonville, GE's global leadership institute

What are the types of reference opportunities?

The GE Digital Customer Reference Program enables you to engage in the reference opportunities that you choose to best fit your business priorities and preferences.

It's flexible and customizable. We'll work with you to align with your company's marketing priorities and strategically map out a co-marketing plan to drive your messages further.

There are a variety of ways for customers to participate:
